Love Came Down at Christmas

arr. William E. Gross

The sweet Christmas lyrics appear in 61 hymnals – and have been popular since the poem was first written in 1885 by Christina Georgina Rossetti. The poem has been set to several different tunes over the years – and this one is based on a Traditional Irish Melody. Will has created a sweet, gentle version to be rung on three bell trees! It is lovely and filled with expression. If you do not have three bell trees available – it could be split up among more ringers, each holding a string of bells – and will work beautifully for ‘spatial ringing.’

Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing

arr. Mark Hayes, Carol M. Smith

This perennially favorite hymn tune was delightfully arranged by Mark Hayes – and it is perfectly adapted by Carol for handbell solo with piano accompaniment. It is rhythmic and engaging, with very nice segues into more introspective sections. Musically, this arrangement naturally reads with a lot of expression. This is a MUST HAVE for the moderately-accomplished handbell soloist.

Note: Price includes solo part and piano accompaniment.

Here I Am, Lord

arr. Tamera Missel, Jason Krug

This lovely hymn was written by Dan Schutte for the ordination of a deacon, while he was studying at the Jesuit School of Theology. He was asked to include in the lyrics, "God's word, of Jesus as the light, and the bread and wine of the eucharist." And all this on very short notice! Needless to say – he rose to the challenge, and this has become a favorite hymn of many. The beautiful solo setting was arranged by Tamera Missel in loving memory of her parents, with Jason Krug creating the gorgeous accompaniment. The score comes complete with piano part and the solo part – both with and without the soloist's choreographic notations.

Easter Sunrise

arr. Brian Childers

Brian has combined two German hymns in a handbell solo with organ accompaniment that is gorgeous and uplifting. The organ accompaniment is exquisite and adds just the right amount of support without overwhelming the bells. (Keyboard could be used). It ends with an exciting flourish of bells which is repeated in the organ pedals. Solo ringers are sure to want this in their repertoire!

Note: Price includes solo part and organ (keyboard) accompaniment.

Trust Medley

arr. Diana Donoho

Two favorite hymns - "Trust in Jesus" and "Trust and Obey" – have been nicely arranged for handbell trio. The melody moves among all three ringers so it will be important to feature it while allowing the accompanying notes to support it. There are lyrical LV lines and a few nice variations in rhythms that make this a lovely piece for any worship service.

Fantasy on the Beach Spring

arr. Paul Kinney

The tune BEACH SPRING is attributed to Benjamin Franklin White, a self-taught singing school teacher who was involved in publishing The Sacred Harp, a collection of hymn tunes, in 1844. This beautiful arrangement is filled with lovely LV passages and has an ethereal and peaceful feeling throughout. Counter-melodies and well-crafted segues will inspire ringers and listeners alike. Suggested bell 'choreography' is included in the score. This is a must-have addition to your quartet repertoire.

Ye Banks and Braes

(Come, O Thou Traveler Unknown)

arr. Blanche Marie Lewis

“Ye Banks and Braes”, also known as “The Banks O’Doon” (a river in Scotland), is a poem written in 1791 by Robert Burns, who then set the lyrics to a Scottish air called “The Caledonian Hunt’s Delight”. The hymn “Come, O Thou Traveler Unknown” is paired with this melody also. The tune has been nicely arranged for 8 bells and is accessible for Level 2 ringers. May be played as a 4iH duet, a trio, or a quartet.

Rêverie

arr. David Jordan

“Rêverie” was the first of Debussy’s piano works to become widely noticed. David has scored this for handbell duet and it creates an ethereal, dream-like feel which will be a wonderful addition to your concert. Filled with expression and nuance, it is mostly ‘Rung’ with a few LVs. The piano accompaniment requires use of pedal for smoothness but the majority of Ped markings were omitted, leaving those decisions up to the accompanist.

Note: Price includes 2 duet parts and the piano accompaniment.

Allegro from Eine kleine Nachtmusik

arr. Robert James Lamb

This delightful Mozart favorite has been beautifully arranged for handbell quartet. It is true to the original with phrasings and styles supported with perfectly placed articulations and dynamics. The addition of handchimes echoing the bell melody in one section is delightful. This will be a challenge for the more experienced quartets but so rewarding and appreciated by audiences.

Maple Leaf Rag

arr. Raymond Nugent

Scott Joplin wrote the familiar "Maple Leaf Rag" in 1899. Musical historians credit its structure as the basis used by subsequent rag composers and its syncopation and consistent bass line immediately engages listeners and ringers alike. It is malleted throughout and at the faster tempo, accurate malleting will be a bit of a challenge. The demo recording is fast but rags are also played at slower tempos, so feel free to choose the best tempo for your quartet

Contemplation on Pleading Savior

arr. Kurt Meyer

PLEADING SAVIOR was one of the folk hymn tunes included in The Christian Lyre, published by Joshua Leavitt in 1831. This arrangement for handbells includes the lovely melody featured in both bells and chimes and in treble and bass clefs, enhanced by contrapuntal counter-melodies, and sonorous bass lines. Nicely placed LVs plus occasional echoes, TD, and mart-lifts provide nice accents. Optional low chimes (C2 – F2) add a wonderful foundation to this work. Addition of optional rainstick is a nice touch for the beautiful, introspective setting.

arr. Patricia Hurlbutt

This favorite and familiar Spiritual has been nicely arranged for handbells. It is mostly Rung throughout with a few LVs, some malleted bass, and well-placed dynamics for nice variety of sound. Some chromatic passages may be a bit of a challenge for some – but it will be well worth the practice to get them in hand.

With God (David's Dance)

Elizabeth Peters

This fresh, original work was written with love in the memory of a life ending much too soon. Written in 3/4, it begins with an expressive 4-measure intro which segues into the main theme. Delicate stopped sounds accompany the lyrical treble melody. Counter-melodies are perfectly placed throughout and an occasional gentle syncopation, as well as dynamics and LVs, add to the overall gentle dancing feel of this lovely work. There are some very nice segues and satisfying progressions leading to the ending which reprises the beginning. This a creative yet very sweet piece that will make your heart sing.

Joyful Praise

Joseph Pinson

This original piece features an engaging melody that is written mostly in the treble clef with the rhythmic, malletted pattern in the bass clef supporting the melody. Occasionally, the melody appears in the bass clef while the treble ringers continue the established rhythmic pattern. The 'B' section includes a variation on the melody, with a brief minor section, before returning to the opening theme. This is an exciting piece that will be perfect to open a concert, bring energy to your performance, or provide a thrilling encore.

And Darkness Covered the Face of the Deep

Brian Childers

Brian has composed this original work to paint a musical interpretation of light coming from total darkness. It begins with an ethereal section featuring singing bells, a haunting handchime line, and optional Burma Bells – pierced by quick stabs of 'light'. A dramatic B section transitions to a gentle and peaceful section, before closing in a bold and dynamic Gb major. Dynamics are critical to the interpretation throughout. A variety of techniques are perfectly placed to further emphasize this beautiful tone poem. This is a 'must-have' for your Level 4 group's repertoire!

Variations on Vruechten

(This Joyful Eastertide)

arr. Patricia Hurlbutt

Originally a Dutch folk tune, VRUECHTEN became a hymn tune in Joachim Oudaen's David's Psalmen (1685), with words and harmonization published in 1894 in Carols for Eastertide and Ascensiontide. The melody and meter are engaging and Pat has developed several stylistic variations – including a playful, dance-like section, a waltz, and a "con fuoco" section featuring the melody in the bass, all leading to a majestic ending. Perfectly placed stopped techniques complement each of these variations. This is a delightful arrangement perfect for worship any time of year – but especially during Eastertide.

An Odyssey of Peace

Brian Childers

This original piece was inspired by Revelation Chapter 4:1-11, and beautifully reflects that scripture. The passages may be read as part of the performance or simply used as interpretive insight. The bell score may be performed alone but the addition of percussion, particularly the timpani, snare, and suspended cymbal, enhances the dynamic of the piece. Using optional alternate bells adds texture and emphasizes the counter-melody. This wonderful work is filled with expression throughout, and the gentle, peaceful ending is quite inspirational.

Matthew Prins

This original work begins with an introspective and mesmerizing LV intro that will immediately captivate the listener. It then develops into a lyrical section featuring the lovely treble clef melody accompanied by the lower bells. The melody soon appears in the 4's accompanied by LV chimes in the treble clef and supported by the A3 chime. It returns to the 'A' section with a dynamic yet haunting ending. Prélude

arr. Chris Peck

César Franck was a highly respected French organ master and composer. He was known to use more of a 'piano technique' on the organ resulting in a more legato style which is quite apparent in this gentle, melancholy "Prélude". It adapts beautifully for handbells and it was tempting to include many more phrase markings than appear in the score. However, the expressions are immediately apparent and ringers may find themselves taking a breath with those phrases, as though singing this lovely work.

Spirit Song

Brian Childers

This original work is filled with opportunity for expression with lovely melodies, counter-melodies and enough techniques to keep every ringer on their toes. It begins with singing bell and single melody line rung by handchimes, then a lyrical bass accompaniment as the chimes introduce the main melody. Suddenly, malleted rhythms begin in the bass followed by a slower, more introspective section with chimes accompanying a simple new melody rung in the upper bells. The main melody returns featuring a contra-motion counter melody as it moves with great energy to the exciting end. This is a perfect piece for worship or a concert!

Together As One

Jason W. Krug

This original piece was the winner of the 2021 Festival Conference Composition Contest, Area 2, HMA. It has a strong melody and is filled with rhythm and energy which is emphasized by well-placed marts and mart-lifts. A TD treble line and chimes support the melody as it moves from the 4s and 5s to the bass. A very nice 'B' section is played entirely on chimes, with the melody again featured in the rich, tonal mid-range. Returning to the original theme, the piece gradually builds in energy to an exciting ending. This is well-written to nicely feature every octave of the bell and chime range – ringers will love it. The Angel Gabriel from Heaven Came

arr. Tom Mills

A lovely new arrangement of the Basque hymn tune GABRIEL'S MESSAGE that will be perfect for Advent. Based on Luke 1:26-38 and Isaiah 7:14, the Annunciation story is set for two baritone soloists accompanied by handbells and optional handchimes. The handbell introduction includes a portion of the passage from Luke that may be read to lead into the main body of the piece, which includes all four verses of the hymn. Festive Hymn Introductions for Advent and Christmas

arr. Brian Childers

These five hymn introductions for Christmas are designed to be played by 3 – 6 ringers using bell trees (or tables). Each is one page in length with easily memorized patterns, making them ideal to use as processional. They may be shortened, lengthened, or adapted to accompany the hymn. Two endings are included – use the dominant chord to lead directly into the hymn or the tonic chord to end the handbell introduction. This collection will be a nice addition to your group's library.

It's Only a Paper Moon

arr. Paul W. Allen

This favorite Harold Arlen tune, written in 1932, was very popular during WWII and has become a jazz/pop standard through recordings by Nat King Cole, Ella Fitzgerald and more. Paul has beautifully crafted this for handbells with a really cool addition of handchimes. Optional repeats make it easily adjusted for length; you also can add trap set and string bass (scores not included) ... or even a vocalist.
